President's Message

I would like to wish everyone a Happy New Year, I hope you enjoyed the holidays and got a chance to relax before the New Year began.

I want to thank Richard Gerbe for arranging the chapter to attend a New York Islander hockey game last month. The event was sold out and we had over 65 attendees between members and their families. A great time was had by all.

John Nally continues to do an excellent job with lining up interesting topics and speakers for our chapter. The chapter programs chair is one of the most time consuming positions on the ASHRAE board and I want to thank John for all of his hard work. In February he has arranged for a joint meeting with ACCA and Dr. Victor Goldschmidt an ASHRAE Distinguished Lecturer is the presenter.

Steve Friedman, the student activities chair, has also arranged for Dr. Victor Goldschmidt to speak with a class of engineering students at SUNY Stony Brook. Steve has been working diligently this year with Stony Brook to create a student chapter and I'd like to thank him for his efforts.

Finally, I am happy to see our own past President, Ray Schmitt, as this month's presenter to the chapter on Radiant Floor Heating. Ray always puts on a good presentation and I would encourage you to invite a co-worker and join us on Tuesday. It is a great way to see some old friends and learn about an interesting topic.

I look forward to seeing everyone at our January meeting.

Craig Marshall, P.E.

Student Activities

I hope that all of our fellow Ashrae members had a safe and happy holiday season. Another year has gone by and as engineers, we strive to keep our industry flowing in a positive direction both financially and technically. These tasks are easily accomplished by the efforts of our fellow engineers, which is why it is very important for all of us to promote the HVAC industry to those future college graduates and those looking for guidance towards a career path in HVAC.

Currently, John Nally and I are working with Dr. Foluso to have Dr. Goldschmidt speak to the students at Stony Brook University during his visit to us in February. I have also been working to meet with students from NYIT and SUNY Farmingdale in the next few months.

This is the most prosperous time to meet the senior college students as they prepare to graduate in May looking for employment and a career. Additionally, Carolyn Cammalleri is planning to visit with the Hofstra University engineering students this month to help promote local student activity and ultimately impress upon them the importance of membership. I, as well as the Board of Governors would like to thank Carolyn for her efforts and technical support within the student activities committee.

Please join us on January 10th at the Westbury Manor for our local chapter meeting. Also note that the February 21st meeting is a special Student Promotion drive. We encourage all students from every local engineering college to attend. The cost for your attendance will be paid by Ashrae, so please plan on attending. You will meet with future employers of the industry so that when you graduate, there are career opportunities for you. Look forward to seeing everyone at the meeting.

Steven Friedman
Student Activities Chairman

Research Promotion

I would like to wish a Happy New Year to the entire membership and thank everyone who contributed to ASHRAE Research Promotion in 2004.

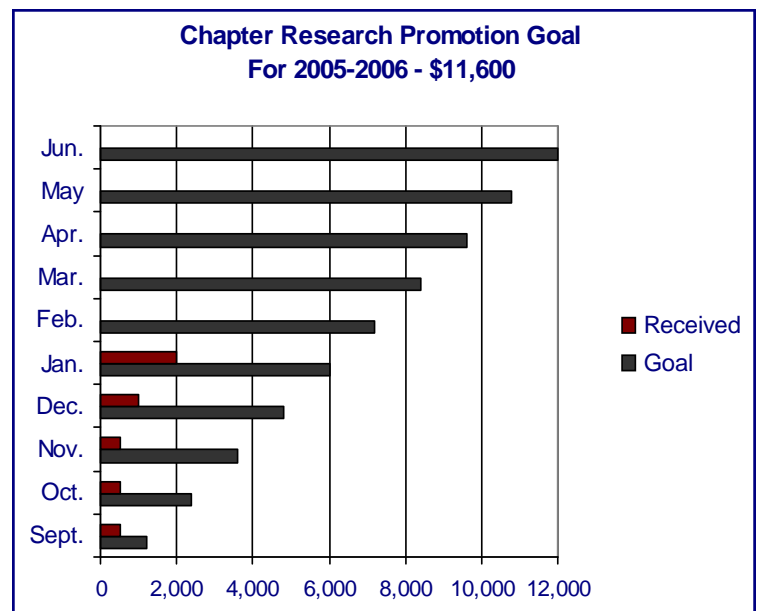

Unfortunately for the past three months donations have nearly ceased. I suspect the holidays and general business climate has a lot to do with this but as consulting engineers, contractors and sales engineers, we need to remember that ASHRAE Research Promotion is the key to quality assurance in our industry. With technical, environmental and legal issues on the forefront, we as a community need to support the efforts of those researching new and existing technologies.

If you have not made a contribution yet, please consider a small donation to ASHRAE Research

Contributions can be mailed to:

History

These past months have been extremely busy for me and I have neglected to submit my ASHRAE article in a timely fashion. If you remember, in November I had suggested that I would begin a series of interviews with past ASHRAE presidents as part of my monthly submission. That will not happen this month and apologize to those who were anxiously awaiting the publication of these interviews.

As I searched the History archives for some relevant tidbit of ASHRAE history, chapter history or any kind of history that would inspire me to accomplish my task I came up with zeroes. Not due to the lack of the richness of our history but due to the overwhelming amount of history that is within direct relation to the contributions that have been made by past and present ASHRAE members. A large part of the archives consists of articles describing projects that our membership had participated in. The Steinway Piano Factory, the Grumman Factory, The Garden City Hotel, Brookhaven Labs. Just take a moment to explore the local New York City and Long Island landscape and these contributions become evident and too numerous to mention. While engineers do not often get the opportunity to bask in the glory that is afforded architects; engineers are responsible for the systems that make these structures safe, comfortable and provide the mechanical functionality that make these structures possible. Beauty is only skin deep; it is what's on the inside that really counts.

The next time you find yourself in a local hotel, hospital, hi-rise apartment building, office park or industrial facility you can be rest assured that the people you rub shoulders every second Tuesday of the month were the engineers who designed the mechanical infrastructure and the vendors who supplied the equipment and form a complete cast of the people who brought a vision to reality. The contributions made by ASHRAE members are evident everywhere and the very shape of the New York skyline itself might not be the same if it were not for these contributions. We are all a part of history whether our contributions on a particular project are great or small.

In conclusion, when we gather at the next meeting, look at the person to your left and then look to the person at your right and raise your glass in tribute to the proud history and contributions made by both past and present Long Island ASHRAE members.

Happy New Year!

James Hayes
Chapter Historian

Membership

I would like to take this opportunity to review a few of the reasons for being a member in ASHRAE. First, ASHRAE keeps us informed of the latest technologies and is instrumental in reporting field tests and findings. The articles published in the ASHRAE Monthly Journal are an excellent source of information. Second, standards developed by ASHRAE are key when designing or constructing a project. Third, communications with our chapter members keep you in touch with other industry professionals. You will find the answer to your questions here and your knowledge will serve to help others.

Hope to see you at this month's meeting.
